Photographs do the impossible. They freeze time.

Yearbooks collect photographs from a few months and bind them together with words, preserve them between covers, saving time.

In this book we are dancing still, and playing the big game, and grinning in the hallway. We always will be.

But even before the selection of the pictures, the time they catch is gone and we look into the photographs and back: memories of the past where we are dancing still, and playing, and grinning, and dreaming dreams of the future based on this shared beginning.

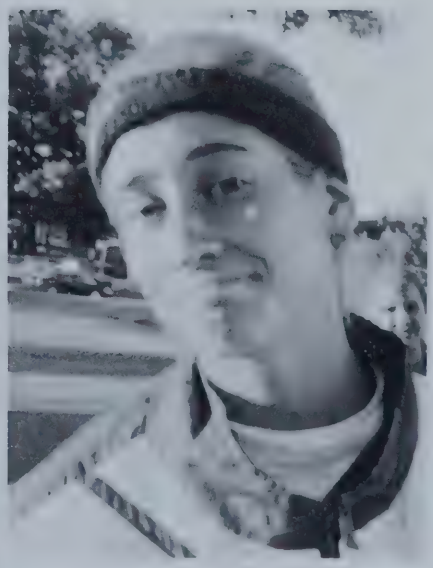
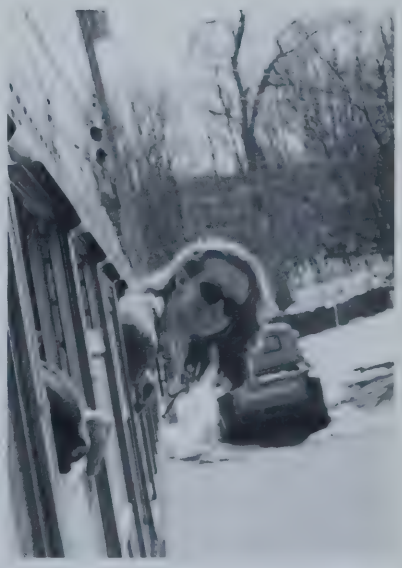
Student Life

Tantasqua offers more than just a good education to its students. Activities such as the Homecoming and the Prom help to make our time here at Tantasqua more memorable. However some students take it upon themselves to find alternate activities to pass the time. Life for Tantasqua students exists far beyond what we experience within the classroom.





Junior/Senior Prom 1997

Once again, Tantasqua's Junior/Senior prom was a huge success. Organized by Mrs. Collette, Mrs. Stellato, and the 10 student members of the Prom Committee, this year's prom was certainly one to remember.

The evening began at Mechanics Hall in Worcester, where couple and group pictures were taken. Cheese and crackers were served prior to the buffet meal.

The fun and dancing lasted until 11:00 when the guests parted and went their separate ways.

Homecoming

"I've had the time of my life"

The weeks of preparation that went into the 1997 Homecoming Dance resulted in an enjoyable evening for everyone who attended.

Prior to the dance, the Warrior football team took to the field and battled the Oxford Pirates while many of Tantasqua's fans battled the inclement weather. Despite the Warriors' valiant effort, they came up short.

Later that evening Tantasqua students made their way to the beautifully decorated gymnasium. Bill Chiodetti and Vanessa Fors were honored with the titles of Homecoming King and Queen. Other members of the court were Julie Mina, Adam French, Kristy Downing, Eric Krans, Molly O'Connell, Bill Simpson, Amy Green, and Shawn Lemerise. Everyone had "The Time of their Life" as they danced the night away.

Les Charming

This year the Kit & Kaboodle Community Youth Players were pleased to perform an original production of "Les Charming." The cast and crew were all made up of students and parents from the Tantasqua Regional school district. The director/writer/actor Mr. Randall took on the next to impossible task of doing it all with style and success.

The plot unfolds when handsome, yet naïve, Prince Charming (Dan Looney) finds himelf married to Cinderella (Jill Hermanson), Snow White (Vanessa Fors), and Sleeping Beauty (Alyssa Caron). Or rather, the problem comes out when the princesses learn of his "three-timing" tendancies. The three ladies take him to court, finding the best attorney in the kingdom, Attorney Hansell Schwartz (Jared Adams) to represent them.

In the end, the court finds Cinderella's Fairy God Mother guilty of magically inducing Prince Charming's actions. All marriages are found null and void and all live happily ever after, of course. Case closed.

Annie!

"The best musical we've done here in years," said Mr. Randall, and he meant it. Annie! had everything--a full pit band, talented leads, cute kids, a cuter dog, a few old men, a corny story line, and a hummable score--all of which combined to bring in large audiences for all three performances.

Lindsay Roymans played the wistful, optimistic orphan in search of a family, which she found in the bald Matt Auger and his assistant Jen LaFleur. All three seniors sang their parts as well as they acted them, and the love the characters felt for one another came across in sharp contrast to the cheap, self-interest of villains Doug Sullivan, Abby McLean, and junior Jess Holl--slimy types who got what they deserved.

School Spirit

Warrior pride is demonstrated throughout the school each day and in many events held throughout the year. Students at Tantasqua participated in a spirit night sponsored by the Student council on Friday, October 3. Classes competed against each other in events such as the pie eating contest and tug of war. Each class showed their spirit in a highly competitive evening. Following the events in the gym there was a bondfire located in the student parking lot.

During several weeks throughout the yera, many Tantasqua students participate in spirit weeks, with a different theme each day. While the walls are covered with signs to support each athletic team, they're also covered with holiday decorations. Each hallway is covered from the floor to the ceiling with ghosts and balloons, and lights and candy canes during the holiday season.

Victory

Armageddon

Many of Tantasqua's students have formed their own bands outside of school. On May 24, these groups had the opportunity to perform at Tantasqua. Nearly 200 students and faculty members turned out to see these talented musicians play. For four hours, the audience listened to covers and original music performed by six bands. Sage, The Cultivators, 7%, The Assassins 8's, Carolina Satellite, and The Westies. Each played their favorite selections. Those who turned out for the event had the opportunity to vote for their favorite band. As the evening came to an end, the Westies were presented with an award for best band.

Outside Activities

Throughout the year many students engage themselves in activities outside their school curriculum. Tantasqua offers many activities including sports, music, drama, community service, as well as others.

However, having its limits, Tantasqua doesn't offer all of the activities that spark the interests of its students. Some of these activities include the common interest of horseback riding and dance and also more unique activities such as scuba diving and flying.

We Are the Children of the 80's

We are the children of the eighties. We are the ones who played with Lego building blocks when they were just building blocks and gave Malibu Barbie crewcuts with safety scissors that never really cut. We collected Garbage Pail Kids and Cabbage Patch Kids and My Little Ponies and Hot Wheels and He-Man action figures and thought She-Ra looked a little bit like I would when I was a woman. Big Wheels and bicycles with streamers were the way to go, and sidewalk chalk was all you needed to build a city. Imagination was the key. It made the Ewok Treehouse big enough for you to be Luke and the kitchen table and an old sheet dark enough to be a tent in the forest. Your world was the backyard and it was all you needed. With your pink portable tape player, Debbie Gibson sang back up to you and everyone wanted a skirt like the Material Girl and a glove like Michael Jackson's.

Today we are the ones who sing along with Bruce Springsteen and The Bangles perfectly and have no idea why. We recite lines with the Ghostbusters and still look to The Goonies for a great adventure. We flip through TV stations and stop at The A Team and Knight Rider and Fame and laugh with The Cosby Show and Family Ties and Punky Brewster and what you talkin' 'bout Willis? We hold strong affections for The Muppets and The gummy Bears and why did they take the Smurfs off the air? After school specials were only about cigarettes and step-families, the Pokka Dot Door was nothing like Barney, and aren't The Power Rangers just Voltron reincarnated?

We are the ones who still read Nancy Drew and the Hardy Boys, The Bobbsey Twins, Beverly Cleary and Judy Blume, Richard Scary and the Electric Company. Friendship bracelets were ties you couldn't break and friendship pins went on shoes—preferably high-top Velcro Reebox. Pegged jeans were in, as were Unit belts and layered socks and jean jackets and jams and charm necklaces and side pony tails and just tails. Rave was a girl's best friend. Braces with colored rubberbands made you cool. The backdoor was always open and mom served only red Kool-Aid to the neighboring kids. Entertainment was cheap and lasted for hours. All you needed to be a princess were high heels and an apron. The Sit'n'Spin always made you dizzy but never made you stop. Pogoballs were dangerous weapons and Chinese Jump Ropes never failed to trip someone. In your Underoos you were Wonder Woman or Spider Man or R2D2 and in your tree house you were king.

Never forget: we are the children of the 80's.

Dedication

Mr. Simanski

This year's yearbook is dedicated to a man who is just that—dedicated.

Mr. Simanski has devoted 15 years of his life to Tantasqua. Even before Tantasqua he had built his life around the school system. He began his career as a teacher and has now decided to return to the classroom. Mr. Simanski wants to improve the teacher-student interaction; he hasn't had that level of interaction since he became an administrator, although we do get a glimpse of him almost ever day, roaming the classrooms, giving us little insights.

Mr. Simanski has played a major role in all of our lives for the last fifteen years; his departure will leave a gaping hole that will be extraordinarily hard to fill. Even then he will never be forgotten.

Though he will be missed, we all wish him the best of luck in his upcoming endeavors, even though I'm sure he will not need it. He is a kindhearted, devoted man, and I can't think of anyone else who deserves this yearbook's dedication more than he.

Juniors

In the most important year of their high school careers, the juniors of Tantasqua are possibly the most high-stressed students. To help them get through this they will rely on their memories of past years and dreams for a less stressful, more fun senior year as rulers of the school.

This Old House

No one will ever again attend the Tantasqua we have known together.

Sometime in May, heavy equipment will move in to begin rearranging the landscape in preparation for at least three years of building and renovation that will transform the school entirely. Some day we may drive by with our kids in the back seat and point and say, "That's where I went to high school," but it won't be true—not really.

Of course, change is the only constant, and the school has changed before in both major and minor ways. Completed in 1954 and featured in Life magazine because of its then-radical landscape-fitting architecture, the building housed grades 7-12 comfortably at first. As the towns grew, though, the school population expanded beyond the building's capacity, and the seventh, eighth, and ninth graders were moved into a new junior high, leaving behind a three-year academic high school and a four-year technical high school.

Now the population crunch has come again, and the pressure has shown in recent adaptations. Two years ago the music program was bumped into the auditorium, its old space split into two classrooms. Last year the Science Lecture Hall was bisected by a concrete block wall, and this year partitions appeared in the cafeteria, providing four new classrooms three periods a day. Where next—the bomb shelter?

The change must come, of course. Anyone would be a fool not to welcome it. New classrooms, new labs, new field space, a new gym, a swimming pool—who could argue with that? Still, watching it happen will bring mixed emotions, like walking through the neighborhood where you have grown up and noticing that the new people in the Riley place have chopped down the blue spruce and painted the house the wrong color. Inevitably, something will be lost—a certain texture, not lovely in itself, but through familiarity having become the stuff of nostalgia and of a sense of ownership: "The way it was when I was there is the way it was meant to be."

Texture is a product of history. New places don't have it. Brand-new Colonial houses don't really fool anyone; they are much more brand-new than Colonial. Tantasqua has been lived in—hard. And the wear has not always been mended as well as one might have wished, but there has been a reason for that. When Proposition 2½ limited towns' ability to raise taxes, many school systems cut academic programs and staff. Tantasqua never did. If that left inadequate funds for building repair, so be it. Mr. Simanski has often said, "I would sooner teach them in grass huts than lose a single faculty position." The central office administrators and school committee members over the years have agreed. So the building has worn, has grown tired—has acquired texture.

Like a family living in a very old house, we have adapted. Some things we simply do not see any more—the rust spots and blisters in the paint on iron railings, the cracks in cement blocks, the white amoeba-shaped patches on the catwalk. We know which classrooms to bundle up for in winter and which heaters we can roast marshmallows on. (This has been done. They don't get black, but the outside gets tough and the inside warm and soupy, and they develop little lines across them like the lines on the "Barb-B-Que Paties on a Roll" in the cafeteria.) Some windows we never open because we know they will not close; on some doors we lean down on the knob to open, on some we lift up; we drink bottled water.

Like a family living in a very old house, we have spruced the place up now and again ourselves. During the summer, students, parents, and faculty have "adopted" classrooms, brightening up the paint (though never twice in exactly the same way as in Mr. Earls' pink palace). ceilings and electrical students connected them to hook us up to an Internet beyond imagining in 1954. Every spring the grounds bloom with student-tended plants. We know the place is old and getting older, but we put a good face on it.

And that original much-praised design does have its good points—like the forum. Exactly what the architect thought would happen in the forum we do not know—performances of some kind probably, since there's a stage of sorts at one end. The sunken area in the middle contains a tree too scrawny to have been there since the 'fifties or to provide much shade. The steps are too shallow to take one step, too deep for two. Yet there is nowhere better for hackey-sack on a warm spring day, for skate-boarding after school, or—since the sunken place and the stairs are both just right for sitting—for dining alfresco with friends on American chop suey and feeding the leftovers to Ziggy. That's texture, too: every old house should have a good old dog.

When the new building has been completed, the entire population of the school will move into it for a year while the building we have known is renovated. The next year, the ninth grade will move across the street and the whole complex will become a four-year high school much like everyone else's. Our school will be tucked in there, but fixed up to the point, perhaps, of being unrecognizable.

Maybe we should write a note to the renovators: Don't put too high a polish on it, please. Leave a little of the texture.

Sophomores

Whether they are second year veterans of the high school or just starting out on new turf, the sophomores of Tantasqua all look forward to similar dreams, relying on memories to get them through the tough, initial shock of high school. It is with memories of care-free days that they forge ahead with dreams of someday reaching those care-free times again.

Go Dog Go

Go Dog Go, voted the top school band, has had a great start. The punk band, its five members Jake Clay on guitar and vocals, Dan Niejadlik on bass and vocals, Derek Anderson on guitar, Steve Soper on drums, Chris Soper on the trumpet and vocals, and dancing guy James Santella have been together for about a year. Dan, Jake, and Steve came up with the idea to start the band. Shortly after they added Chris and Derek because they were there.

Go Dog Go doesn't have anything out now besides a four song demo, though they are working on making deals with Dead Ratt Records. They may release a split seven inch with the Pantaloonitics and be features on a comilation CD to be released sometime in the upcoming year.

Freshmen

Just starting out on their high school journey, the freshmen students must hope that their memories of the Junior High are enough to help them fulfill their dreams for the future in the high school. Though they are Tantasqua's youngest students, they may be some of Tantasqua's finest and most dependable students.

Day dreaming

A quiet shady place

Electrical

Juniors

There are five juniors in the electrical program this year. They are learning basic and progressed residential and commerical wiring skills such as doorbells, lights, and power feeds one would find in an office or factory. They will wire simple jobs with a single light and a single switch and complex jobs of many lights with 3- and 4-way switches requiring conduit bends and complicated diagrams. They also work on a mock-up of a four room appartment setup in the shop. They will exercise the skills that Don Manseau, a former tradesman and current electrical inspector, has taught them.

Shop

Seniors

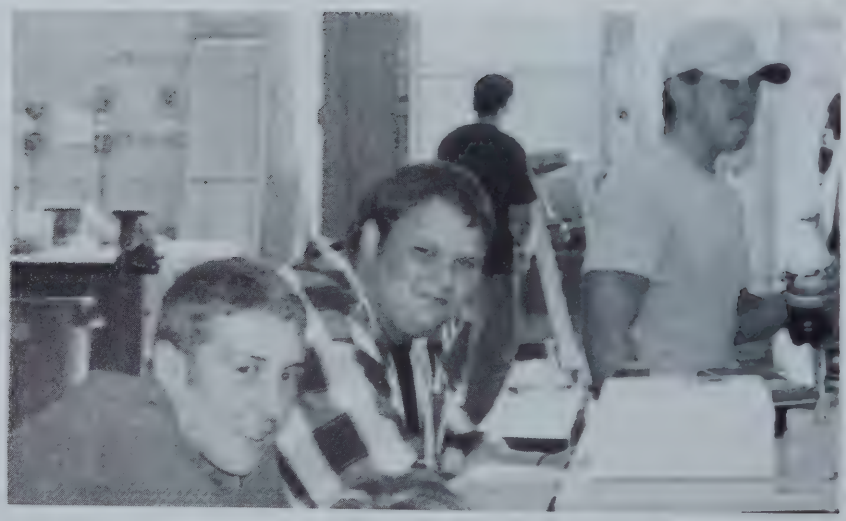
This year the seniors in the electrical shop are doing a number of jobs in the school and out. In the school they are spending some time in the motor lab learning about and working on motor controls and systems. Also, there are many jobs that need to be done in the school. The electrical students can be seen putting up strips of wire mold for all of the CAT-5 Internet cable that was installed on Net Day, something they played a big part in. There are various other tasks that need doing from fixing Mr. White's plugs to installing a whole system.

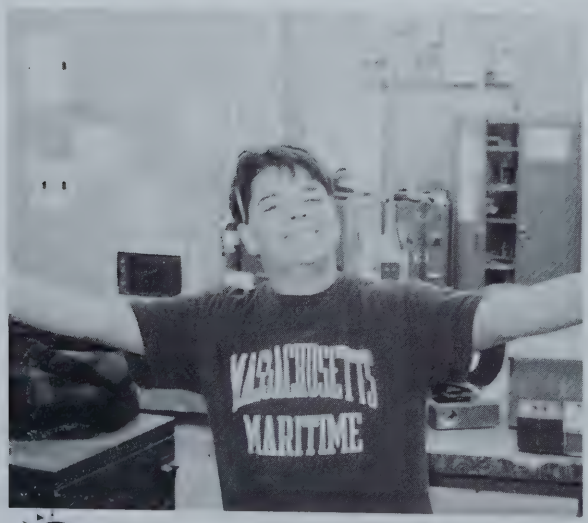
This year the seniors will also work at the Brimfield Elementary School, the Holland Elementary School, some private residences, and others. Anyone can see that Shane, Deric, Joel, Craig, Donnie, Ed, Shawn, Ted, and Pete have their work cut out for them.

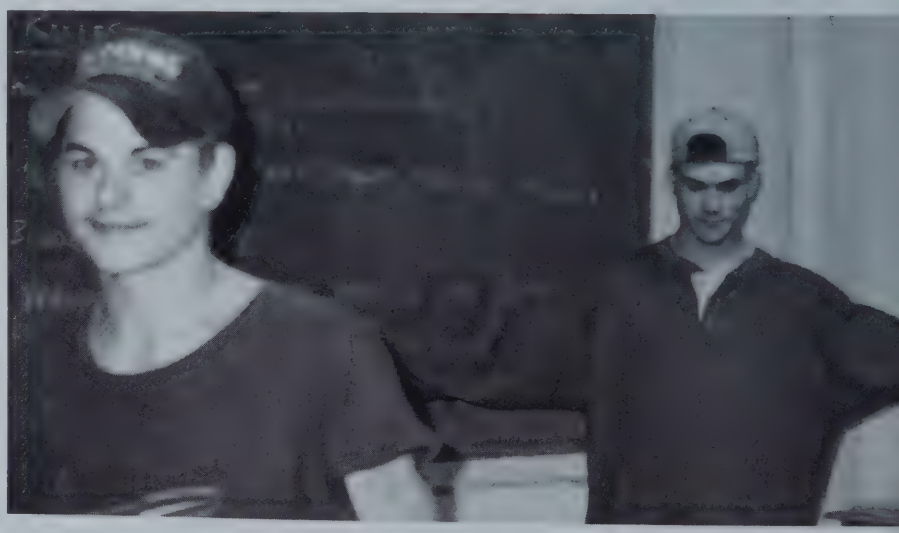
Juniors

Carpentry

The students that elected to go into the carpentry shop have a tough year ahead of them. They will be learning the basics on furniture and simple jobs. When they have advanced from there they will start building sheds that they sell for material that the budget can't cover. Their teacher, Mr. Napieralski, has given them a wealth of knowledge that they will go on to use next year when they are seniors.







Shop

Seniors

In Tantasqua's carpentry program the seniors get on-the-job training in real-work situations. Their biggest job is a two-car garage with a four-room finished apartment above it. They are doing an excellent job and getting real exposure to job conditions. They will often work in the cold and rain and still perform well. This is not without reward. They know that they will be more than ready when they enter the work force. Thanks to Mr. Seguin, they will become fine carpenters.

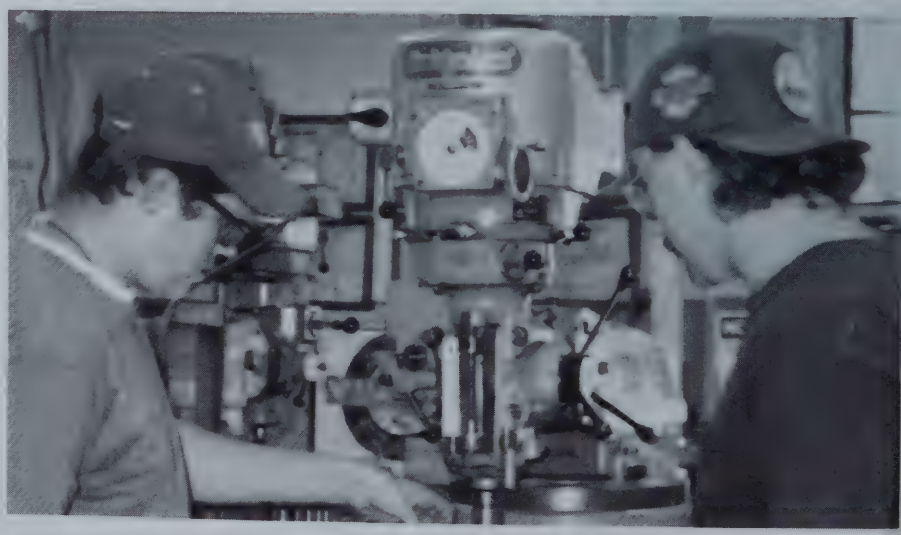
Manufacturing

Technology junior year is a lot of fun and a lot of work. We are in a class with both juniors and seniors; at first it is a little intimidating, but after a week or two, we feel right at home. The seniors are all very helpful if Mr. Rousseau is busy and we have a question.

As for the work we do, there is a lot. We learn how to read and write complex blueprints. We learn all parts of the machines we have to work on, and the differences of materials we work with. along with the work from the three books we most often work with, we have to do various projects: 3-blocks, test bars, plumb bobs, and all the other work that Mr. Rousseau sees fit to assign.

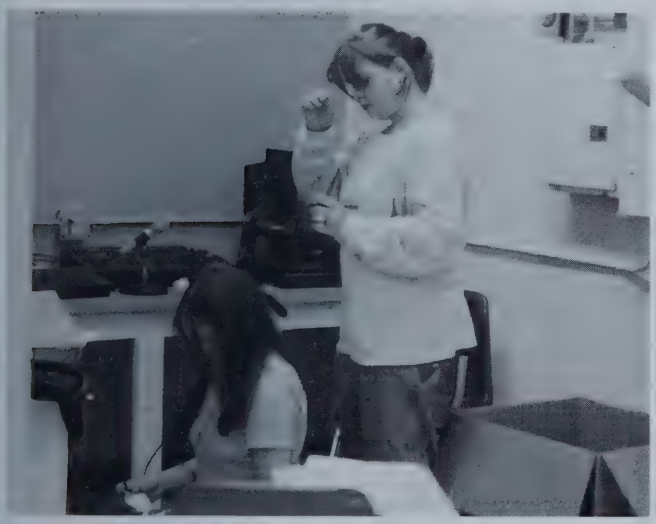
But all the work is rewarded in the skills we develop and the friendships that we make for a lifetime. There is also a thrill involved with taking a crushed, mangled piece of junk and turning it into something useful. Tech is the best thing we could've done for our futures.



Shop

Seniors

Should you ever be down in the machine shop you will see many students hard at work. The seniors turn out product after product making tools to use, fixing things, and improving the school. They mentor and guide the juniors as Mr. Rousseau has taught them. With his expertise the seniors will learn more than enough to enter an industry position.



Juniors

Drafting

The students enrolled in Tantasqua's drafting program will be learning a variety of skills. Over the year Mr. LaBelle will teach them basic drafting techniques, exercising them on drawings of geometric figures and computer-aided drafting. They are happy with their choice and look forward to their careers.

Shop

Seniors

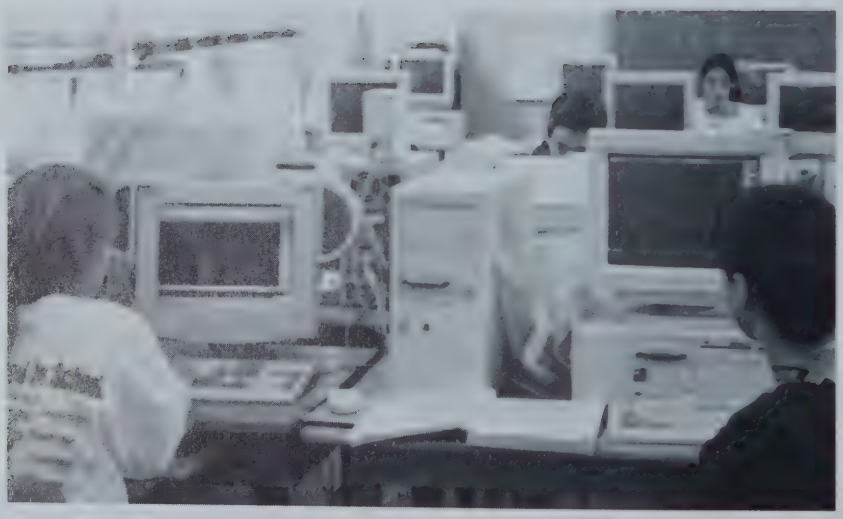
The veterans of Junior Year Drafting take the skills they learned and shape and perfect them. Once again, under Mr. LaBelle they go back to the drawing boards and design rooms, houses, and products. They work on CAD designing much of the time. They modify other drawings, correcting mistakes and designs not up to code.

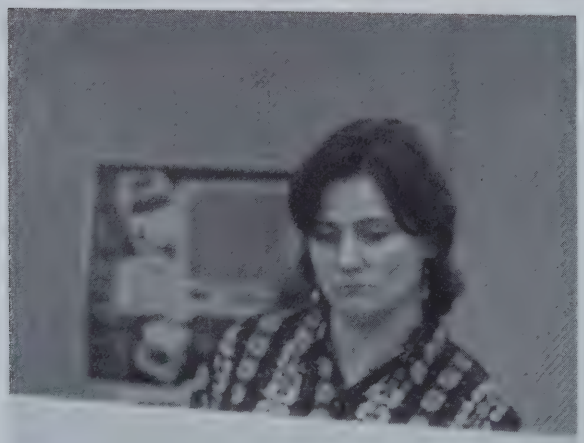
Many of them will go on to college and take their knowledge to the next level.

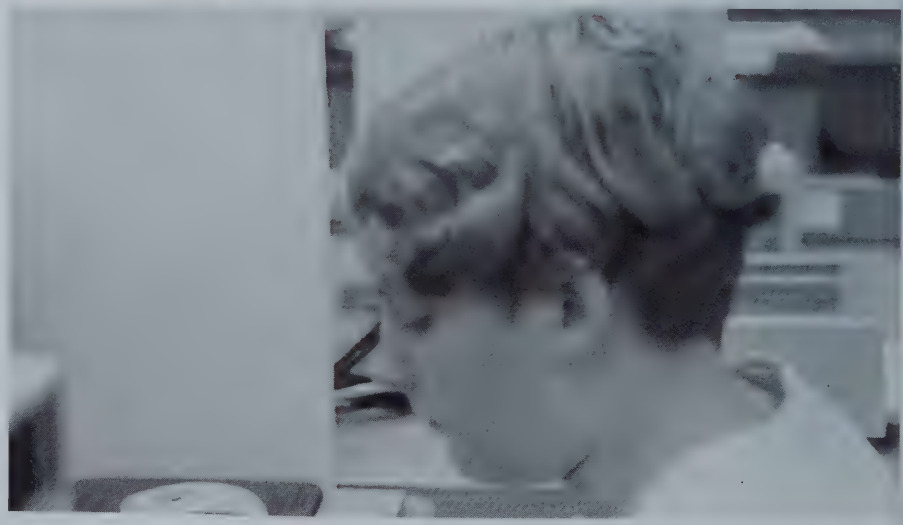
Allied

Juniors

Junior Year Allied Health will focus on learning the procedures and terminology of being a CNA. Most of their time is spent in the classroom doing bookwork and taking notes. They watch videos of procedures and practice on dummies and mock-ups of hospital rooms to accustom themselves to hospital routine. With the teaching of Ms. Goncalves they will go to the next level when they continue into senior year.







Health

The goal of the seniors in Allied Health is to leave Tantasqua as a Certified Nursing Assistant. Led by Mrs. Dinapoli, they will go to nursing homes, Harrington Hospital, and the Fallon Clinic and learn how to care for patients and assist nurses and doctors in their roles. Those completing the program will work at some of the places mentioned above or go on to become a Registered Nurse.

Activities

The activities of Tantasqua present almost endless opportunities. What you get from these are what you put into them--though they may be hard work now, they will leave distinct memories and introduce dreams for future interests. Maybe these activities will even spark career intitiatives for some Tantasqua students.

Spotlight Activity

Ballroom Dancing

Ballroom dancing is a new activity to Tantasqua. The first Ballroom Dancing lessons took place in the cafeteria in September of 1997. The founding principal of the ballroom dancing activity was to teach students how to ballroom dance. But perhaps more importantly it allows students the opportunity to try something new and have a good time.

Not too many students know how to ballroom dance, but those that do are eager to share their knowledge. During a typical Ballroom Dancing session, a review of last week's lesson takes place first. Then the dance is tried by the entire group and put together with music. After a break, new material is offered. Students are able to dance with friends, boyfriends/girlfriends, or even in a large group.

Mrs. Dunn, the Ballroom Dancing advisor, takes an active part in the lessons and teaches some dance moves herself. Students are also active in planning lessons; they sometimes draw diagrams of feet movements to help visualize the dances they are teaching.

Ballroom Dancing is not strictly for the ballroom, however. Sometimes party dances are explored, including the Disco and the Electric Slide.

Internet Club

The Internet Club is a new club that had its very first meeting in September of 1997. The club has been formed with a wide range of purposes. Its main goal is to manage the Tantasqua website, http://tantasqua.org.

Students of all backgrounds are welcomed to join the Internet Club. No computer experience is needed. In a typical meeting, Internet Club members learn a variety of new skills. Some meetings are spent talking about developing web pages, others for programming, and still others for simply learning how to turn a computer on and use its basic functions.

Students themselves lead the meetings and determine its agenda. During most meetings, computer software is used to edit the web pages on the school Internet site and add new pages to it. Guidance bulletins, academic course descriptions, and information about various sports and clubs are all worked on by the Internet Club. About ten students show up to each meeting.

Marching Band

The Tantasqua Warrior Marching Band offers support through music to the Warrior Football Team. But it does much more as well-the Marching Band plays at Pep Rallies and marches in Memorial Day parades. It participates in musical events, such as UMass Band Day and organizes special trips, such as the ones to Disney World, Florida.

The Marching Band has between 40-60 members and recently purchased uniforms for all of them. There are many opportunities for involvement in the band. Musicians who play wind instruments or percussion are always needed and welcome. Percussionists have the opportunity to join either the battery that marches on the field or the pit that plays on the sidelines. Other options are also available, such as joining the Marching Band Color Guard, which is responsible for managing the Tantasqua-colored flags and providing visual effects during half-time shows.

Student Council

The Student Council of Tantasqua represents all students of Tantasqua. The council raises money for each of the classes, runs the concession Shack at the football field, and hosts a variety of events including the Homecoming dance and Sprit Night.

All members of Student Council are voted in by the student body, usually after a week of campaigning where the candidates are allowed to put up posters and give speeches over the intercom.

Each class has five class officers to manage the treasury and fundraising for that class. Additionally, each class is allowed about seven representatives to vote with the class officers at the student council meetings.

The six Student Council officers are not affiliated with any specific class, but rather work to manage the student council itself. These officers are focused on the activities for all of the students at Tantasqua, as opposed to a specific class. These positions require one year of previous service, either as a class officer or representative.

Student Council meetings take place weekly during lunches and bimonthly at night, in addition to separate class meetings.

TJ Forum

Thomas Jefferson Forum is the community service organization at Tantasqua. Its thirty-plus members manage and participate in various projects beneficial to the school and community. Every year it assists with the Apple Country Fair and the Galileo Christmas Basket program. It also organizes canned food drives, coat drives, and other initiatives to help specific causes.

Members of the Thomas Jefferson forum participate in community service events and are given opportunities to attend conferences and join special outside committees to learn about community service, participate in community service, and share the results with the forum.

Ski Club

Every year, about one hundred Ski Club members travel to Wachusett Mountain in the dead of winter. Some are advanced skiers and some don't even know how to put skis on. But all of them go with one goal in mind: to have a good time.

Ski Club is open to all students of Tantasqua. The price varies year to year, but includes the cost of bus transportation and a lift ticket for the six Saturday sessions the club attends. There are optional extras that members can pay for, such as ski lessons and rental equipment. It is strongly recommended that novice skiers take lessons. Intermediate and advanced lessons are also available for skiers who want to refine their technique. All of the lessons are taught by certified Wachusett Mountain instructors.

Students must travel on the provided bus transportation both to and from Wachusett Mountain. The bus usually arrives at Wachusett around 4:30 pm and departs around 10:00 pm. In the approximate five-hour interim, students are completely on their own and able to get rental equipment, eat dinner, relax in the lodge, and, of course, ski. Students must be in groups of at least two and return to the buses at the appropriate time. Returning late may result in suspension from the club.

Indoor Track

It takes a certain kind of person to be on an indoor track and field team. Runners have to run in the cold and get up very early on Saturday mornings to go to meets at South High in Worcester. No, these runners are not crazy; they are just dedicated.

This year's team consisted of 16 girls, led by captains Kate Coan, Monique Perron, and Jenna Matys; and 15 boys, led by captains Jon Bourdeau, Ryan Moore, and Matt Dubois.

The girls' team's leaders were seniors Kate Coan (300 yd, 50 yd, and Shot Put) and Emily Crocker (50 yd High Hurdles), Christina Mancini (2 mile), Monique Perron (300 yd), Jenna Matys (50 yd), Mai Thibert (50 yd High Hurdles), sophomore Kristin Dormsjo (High Jump), and freshmen Michelle Hayes (1 mile and 1000 yd) and Sara Rose Knox (600 yd).

The boys' team's leaders were senior Jon Bourdeau (High Jump and 600 yd); junior Mike O'Donnell (2 mile and 1 mile), sophomores Joe Coan (300 yd and 50 yd), Tim Rand (50 yd), Matt Dubois (50 yd High Hurdles), and Brad Campbell (Shot Put), and freshman Kyle Picco (1000 yd).

Our girls' team finished the season with a record of 4-5, and the boys 1-8.

Cheerleaders

Tantasqua's Cheerleaders may have been a little inexperiences this year, but they didn't show it. These freshmen and sophomores formed a squad that made Tantasqua proud in the performances they were able to give. Being so young we'll be sure to have a great squad to look forward to next year, and years afterward.

Spring Track

Last year, both the boys' and girls' spring track teams ended their seasons victoriously. The boys had a winning record, 8-1-1, as did the girls with a record of 7-1. From the girls' team, Meghan Hart, Molly O'Connell, Rachael Turkington, Erika Aho, Christina Mancini, and Jenna Matys went on to districts, competing in the discus, high jump, relay, long jump, two-mile, and 110 hurtles, respectively.

Three of the boys competed in the decathalon: Matt Dubois, Brent Gruter, and Dan St. Clair. In addition, Jon Bourdeau qualified to participate in the District E State Qualifying Meeting, competing in the high jump. The boys' team also had two members participate in District E Class Meet. John Bordeau again competing in the high jump, along with Dave Green in the javelin.

Both teams had outstanding seasons and show even more potential for the upcoming seasons.

Baseball

The class of 1997 dominated last spring's baseball team, and more often than not, last year's baseball team dominated the competition. The team finished the regular season 13-7, advanced to the second round of District play, and finished second in the Border Conference with an 8-2 conference record.

While the corps of senioor stars will be missed, a number of underclassmen return to carry on the winning tradition in 1998--co-captains Bryan Teasdale (second base) and Rich Treadway (center field), both District All-Stars, outfielders Tom LaPrade and Jarrod Ashton, pitcher Dave Landine, and third baseman Scott Hrybyk. Around this core Coach Farrell hopes to build another winning squad.

In a cold and drizzly spring of 1997, Tantasqua's nine made high school baseball a real spectator sport, drawing crowds of happy Warrior fans to games well worth watching. We look forward to more of the same in 1998.

Softball

The 1997 Tantasqua softball team overcame some mid-season turmoil to amass an 11-9 overall record and move into District play. Just as satisfying, the girls beat Shepherd Hill for the first time in the senior's careers.

While the seniors--especially All-Stars Monique and Michelle Chapdelaine--made major contributions, the 1997 squad was largely a young one. Both pitchers, Sarah Montross and Sara Gelinas, will return, as will Andrea Green, Brandi Alicia, Katie Coan, Kristy Downing, Jill Flynn, Sarah Romano, and Katie Commito.

Add to that strong nucleus an 11-7 JV squad which improved steadily after a rocky start, and the softball season of 1998 looks like a good--and winning--time.

Girls' Tennis

The 1997 Girls' Tennis season was a time for building for the future--a future that should be bright. Only co-captains Laura Millen and Lindsay Roymans will not be returning in '98, and while the two veterans will be missed, there is plenty of young talent to take up the slack.

The rest of the young 2-14 team showed the fight and improvement on which better seasons to come will be built. At first singles the relatively inexperienced Caity Kimball's hard-fought matches earned her a reputation as someone to watch the next two years. Second singles Amanda McGann worked hard on her psychological game, and Coach Parker expects a big season from the hard-hitter next year. Third singles Pam Beaudry picked up many victories with her consistency and composure. A trio of rotating second doubles players, Megan McKinstry, Susie Carpenter, and Katie Barron, extended their opponents to long, tough matches.

Next year all the experience should add up to a season to watch.

Boys' Tennis

A young boys' tennis squad amassed a 14-5 record in 1997, serving notice that the '98 squad will be a power in the conference and the district.

'97 Graduate Dave McAlpine closed out his career with a Tantasqua record total of 57 victories, and Mike Stanton added maturity and stability off the bench, but underclassmen carried the bulk of the load.

In the spring of '98, Seniors Dan LaFleur, Shawn Lemerise, Bill Chiodetti, and Brian Keith will be joined on the squad by junior lettermen A.J. Awan and Jon Palmer, and an unusually large contingent of sophomore veterans: Charlie Light, Pat Blomberg, Aira Awan, and Chris Devitt.

All that youth and experience suggests the down of a dynasty.

Golf

Year in, year out, the Golf team has been the most consistently successful spring sports program at Tantasqua, and in 1997, they did it again, despite some real obstacles.

The first obstacle was inexperience. The team had only one Senior member, John Anderson. The second obstacle was illness which dropped captain Anderson from the lineup. Though the team had to conquer these large obstacles, they ended with a record of 9-9-1 which earned them their rightfully deserved position in the district competition.

In districts, stand out Junior--now Senior Scott Baldracchi finished third in individual standings and won himself a spot in State Championships as well. Scott will now take on the captain's position into the 1998 season, with an eye on the post-season again, as usual.

Football

The Tantasqua Football Season can be defined in a single word, one that stayed upon the blackboard from the beginning of double sessions to the final Thanksgiving day game: Courage.

Even though the season ended 4-7 (1-2 in the SWCL), it still can be ranked with utmost confidence amongst the best years of football here at Tantasqua. The achievement which may stand out the greatest is the defeat of long-time rival and next-door neighbor Southbridge.

Not only can the season be considered a success because of wins or losses, but also because of team chemistry and comradery. This year saw an increased dedication by the players and even the fans of Warrior Football. From the scorching heat of summer to the frigid cold of winter the numbers on the roster stayed consistently high.

It is necessary to acknowledge the coaches for their strong leadership and their many contributions to the program. Without their confidence in us, it would have been difficult for the program to excel. The Co-Captains, Nick Digregorio and Rich Treadway, must also be praised because of the excellent job done at keeping the team motivated and ready to compete.

The individuals who need perhaps the most praise are all of the seniors. These teammates supported others and set wonderful examples fo rthe younger players on the team. Their presence will be most definitely missed. However, all that can be said now is that the team must look forward and prepare for another year of exciting competition.

Boys' Soccer

This year's boys' soccer team was all about earning respect. Having graduated 7 starters, on paper, the preseason outlook was guarded at best. Apparently no one bothered to check with the team.

In the end the Warrior soccer team narrowly missed the conference championship, and finished 7-7-5, and 3-1-2 in the conference. The team posted strong bids against all of the Central Mass favorites, nearly upsetting the District tournament, wherein the quarter finals they outhustled and nearly overpowered the eventual tournament champions, Wachusett. Thus their Cinderella season came to a close.

The Warriors will graduate eleven seniors, including Co-Captain Bill Chiodetti. The seniors were solid performers all season long and provided the team with a strong foundation to stand on. Next season the team will reload with the talented players of varsity members, including this year's junior Co-Captain Brendan Malvey. With a future this promising, we better make room for next year's SWCL Conference Champions' banner.

Girls' Soccer

For the ten seniors on the Girls' Varsity Soccer team, this year marked the end of a soccer "family" formed as seventh graders and strengthened throughout junior high and high school. According to coach Modestow, the seniors, who always played under the motto "together," will be "sorely missed."

Although the record does not reflect the team's effort, Co-Captains Meg Hart and Susie Carpenter led a hustling, spirited group. The Border Conference honored four of the girls--Amy Green, Kristy Downing, Vanessa Vallee, and Kim Hicks--as All-Stars.

With so many players graduating, next year's Co-Captains, Monique Perron and Rachael Turkington, will have to lead a rebuilding effort, inspired by memories of 1997's green hair, war paint, and laughs.

Girls' Cross Country

The Girls' Cross Country team had a fine season this year, finishing their fouteen-meet season with an outstanding ten victories.

The team attributes their successful season to team captain Kathy Heagney. Hathy herself credits the team's enthusiasm and dedication. "We had a great team with lots of spirit," she explains. "Everybody was really willing to work hard, and we had a lot of fun." Kathy was also pleased with the number of freshmen and sophomore runners who joined the team this season.

Though every team member deserves due credit, the most outstanding performance was turned in by junior Christina Mancini, who holds the team's season record on the home course, traversing the arduous 2.71 miles in amazing 20:25.

Also making important contributions to the team's success were senior Kim Heagney and freshmen Michelle Papineau, Ruthann DeGutis, and Lindsay Wolf. Before an injury senior Alisha Maltezos was running very well, too, winning two early races.

Congratulations to the team on a great season. Good luck next year!

Boys' Cross Country

▼ If I catch you, you're dead, Cracker!

The Boys' Cross Country Team raced its way to another successful season this past fall. With practice starting the first day of school, the runners hardly stopped for a moment with their rigorous schedule of training and meets.

The boys started their season off a bit out of shape, but managed to quickly improve, winning 7 of their last 9 meets, and finishing second in the Southern Worcester County League Cross Country Meet. Their final record was 7-7, an impressive season give the loss of three of last year's top 5 finishers.

The team was led this year by sophomore captain Andy Wood as well as juniors Dan St. Claire, Matt McGuiness, Mike O'Donnell, Captain Jon Palmer, and Ryan Moore.

Andy qualified for the state meet in November, an honor few runners attain. Andy, Dan, and Matt were named Southern Worcester County League All-Stars.

Field Hockey

With support from Head Coach Cristini and senior Co-Captains Sarah Montross and Andrea Green, the Warrior field hockey team finished their 1997 season with a 7-8-3 record.

The team's efforts all season paid off in their first-ever victory over Doherty. The team walked away from the confrontation with a score of 3-2. The dedication that sparked the Doherty win drove the team to the district qualifier against Quabbin.

Andrea Green led the team, scoring thirteen goals during the last two and a half weeks, earning herself the league's scoring title along with All-Star and All-State awards. Also receiving All-Star recognition were key players Sarah Montross, Meghan Lawrence, and Jen Pelletier.

With the loss of four strong senior players, the Warrior team will face a challenge next year. The team looks forward to their '98 season with many returning players, including six seniors.

Boys' Basketball

With a very hard schedule and the loss of seven players, five starters from last season's squad, the Boys' Varsity Basketball Team endured a disappointing season, though team unity and hard work were two qualities that the Warriors possessed. Their heart and desire were never questioned as they gave everything they had every minute of every game.

Highlights of the season were beating Quaboag on their home floor, the team's first road win in two years, and beating a quality opponent in Grafton at home. Sophomore Brent Kenneway had an outstanding first varsity season. Senior Taylor Whitcomb led the team in scoring. Senior Captain Bill Chiodetti led the squad with style. Seniors Dave Landine, Brian Keith, Adam French, Nick St. Laurent, Taylor Whitcomb, and Bill Chiodetti will be missed next year, but the returning players as well as upcoming players will fill their spots well.

Girls' Basketball

The 1997-98 Girls' Varsity Basketball team is almost at the end of another successful season as this is written. The team's record is currently 8-5 with seven games left in regular season play. The Warrior Girls look forward to qualifying for the Division I District competition for the fifth straight year and hope to advance even further in the compeition this year than they did last year, when they won their first-ever District game at the Division I level.

Although the team lost four talented seniors from the last season, the leadership of Coach Thomas Goyette and the hard work and dedication of the thirteen girls on the team has made this season just as successful as last year's, if not more so. After two losses to start the season, the girls battled on to a five game winning streak that set the pace for the rest of the season. The team hopes to finish the season with an even better record than the 10-10 that it finished the regular season with last year.

Senior Captains Kim Hicks, Meghan Hart, and Molly O'Connell, as well as senior teammates Kelly Brogan, Kristy Downing, Sara Artruc, Vanessa Vallee, and Meghan Looney, will be missed, but their spots will be filled with many talented upcoming players. We wish the best of luck to next year's team for an equally successful season!

A Note: Just For You!

When I first began my position as Editor of the Yearbook, I didn't kr what to expect. As the year progressed I realized exactly what expected of me. At times it was rough, but, thanks to a couple of people, I was able to breathe a little easier. I'd like to thank those pe now.

First off, Tim Vasil my Underclassmen Editor, and my Sav Thanks to Tim, I was able to put my time towards much better use t layouts and typing.

Secondly, My Advisor, Mr. Newton, who was always there to ans the questions that I couldn't.

Thirdly, Nicole Daigle, who managed all of the money.

Next, Sarah Meacham, who was always there when no one else was, and, finally Katie St. Germaine and Stephanie Looney, the two girls who "sold" the book and put in extra effort to be able to help out even though they had other commitments.

I'd like to say that I was happy to see the book finished, but somehow I don't want it to be over so soon. It was fun while it lasted!

Good Luck to the Class of 1998!
Keep your memories always,
And never stop Dreaming!
